NIST 800-171 System Security Plan (SSP) Template ComplianceForge developed an editable System Security Plan (SSP) template that is specifically designed for NIST 800-171 compliance. It is important to understand that there is no officially-sanctioned format for a System Security Plan (SSP) to meet NIST 800-171 compliance requirements.

SSP & POA&M Templates - CMMC Compliance

System Security Plan
For starters, a System Security Plan (SSP) is an iterative document meant for updates as the company changes anything substantive about its security posture. Much like a well-kept Wikipedia page, every major update or remediation needs to be recorded and reviewed by other individuals.

What is an SSP and POA&M? What's the Difference?

Once assessed, the SSPs are kept on file and the solutions will be maintained on the general SSP template as an acceptable method to meet controls for projects and environments.
