2.1.1. Grades Of Sheet Piling Steel.
 2.1.1.1. Basic Grade: ASTM A-328. The basic specification for steel sheet piling in the United States has been ASTM A-328 published by the American Society of Testing Materials. This grade has been satisfactory for most applications in that it provided a relatively high yield point for design and a high ultimate strength for drivability.

A threshold plate, such as the Posh, simply covers the two flooring edges and is typically held securely by screwing into the gap between the two floor coverings. A carpet joining strip, such as the Premier Double Z9, will include base sections either side featuring sharp pins. These fit under the carpet and hold it under tension; this style can normally be nailed or glued to your base floor ...

Description Z-shaped sheet piles are called Zs because the single piles are shaped roughly like a horizontally stretched Z. The interlocks are located as far away from the neutral axis as possible to ensure good shear transmission and increase the strength-to-weight ratio.

Sheet pile capping systems provide a fast and economical method of supporting shuttering for capping beams on permanent sheet piling works such as river banks, sea walls, piers, and jetties. The system can be set up very quickly and is simple to use even for unskilled laborers. The equipment is re-usable for all shapes of sheet pile and does not cause damage to the piles.
