Globalization and Human Trafficking By Devin Brewer

Human Trafficking Casts Shadow on Globalization. Women and children have been among the biggest losers in this era of globalization, if we consider the massive increase in human trafficking in recent years. Cheated or sold into a life of sexual slavery or indentured servitude, the victims of human trafficking and their stories reveal the dark underside of increased international mobility.

Human Trafficking Casts Shadow on Globalization ...

While globalization created push and pull factors that caused an increase in sex trafficking, it is likely that technological advancement was globalization's biggest contributor to the industry's growth.

The Globalization of Sex Trafficking

One of the reasons why gender plays such a significant part in sex trafficking is a result of the relationship between sex trafficking and economic globalization at both cultural and societal levels. This results in the vulnerability of women economically, in both underdeveloped and the developed world.

Sex Trafficking and Sex Tourism in a Globalised World

This coalition sought, as Magaly Rodriguez Garcia writes, to “perfect...a ‘global prohibition regime’ against international sex trafficking and the direct or indirect recruitment for prostitution that endures to this day” (p. 98). Rodriguez Garcia explains that, after much discussion, they fixed upon the word “trafficking” to refer to the international sex trade in order that the fullest possible range of its proponents – including pimps, brokers, touts, and procurers, to be ...
