Journey on the Rock Cycle A useful aid in visualizing the rock cycle is shown above. The three major rock types, igneous, metamorphic, and sedimentary, are shown. As you see, each may form at the expense of another if it is forced out of equilibrium with its physical or climatic environment by either internal or surficial forces.

Journey on the Rock Cycle - Earth

One 'journey' around the rock cycle has been completed: magma cools to form igneous rocks (volcanic and intrusive); the rocks are weathered to loose material; the loose material (sediment) is transported and then deposited. The sediment turns into sedimentary rock. The sedimentary rock is squeezed and baked to form metamorphic rock.
