In reality, there are some properties of acoustics that affect the acoustic space. These properties can either improve the quality of the sound or interfere with the sound. Reflection is the change in direction of a wave when it hits an object. Many acoustic engineers took advantage from this.

Acoustic space - Wikipedia

Acoustics is a first order approximation in which non-linear effects are neglected. In classical acoustics the generation of sound is considered to be a boundary condition problem. The sound generated by a loudspeaker or any unsteady movement of a solid boundary are examples of the sound generation mechanism in classical acoustics.
