Global chemical mergers and acquisitions outlook | Deloitte

At the beginning of 2020, no one could have imagined the degree of uncertainty and volatility that we're experiencing in the economy more broadly. As one would expect, this has had a negative impact on mergers and acquisitions (M&A) activity in the insurance sector. The post-COVID-19 world may unleash structural and systemic changes across multiple industries, and it's widely expected that recovery will be highly asymmetric across regions and sectors.

2020 Insurance Mergers and Acquisitions Outlook | Deloitte US

Building economic and political uncertainty in 2020 is likely to create a backdrop of short-term headwinds for banking and capital markets (B&CM) mergers and acquisitions (M&A). However, dropping interest rates, ongoing tariffs and trade disputes, rumblings about an economic slowdown, and the upcoming US presidential election are stirring up uncertainty that may temper M&A, especially in the second half of the year.
