in the audio path, an electrolytic which can be replaced with a film type. The P-2100's circuitry is considerably different from the 2200, in my opinion, sonically inferior.

Power alone is no virtue; the P2100 has ultra-low distortion, less than 0.05% thd at full rated power - the kind of low distortion that is undetectable by even the most critical listeners. A high damping factor of better than 250 at frequencies below 1kHz reduces the tendency for speaker cone overshoot, giving tighter and better defined bass response.
