Originally published in German, ‘Limit’ is Frank Schätzing’s mammoth near-future thriller, translated into English in an equally unwieldy massive volume and then, thankfully, published by Jo Fletcher Books in a 2 volume edition. Even so, part 1 is 705 pages long which, I don’t know about you, but I find to be uncomfortably large to read with ease. You just can’t hold it easily in one hand while drinking a cup of tea.

At 1149 pages, it’s a book so heavy it’s classed as a weapon of mass destruction by the United Nations, but what a good read it is. Admittedly the first 200 pages obsess over the lives, and sexual proclivities, of the rich and famous tourists going to the moon and takes some stamina to get through, but after that, it doesn’t feel like a long book.
