Unusually, The Z250
Twin was conceived
very much with a UK

market in mind. Local laws here meant at the time that as a learner you could ride bikes up to 250cc on 'L' plates until you passed your motorcycle test. The design brief was issued in 1975 and the first prototype sent for evaluation by Kawasaki UK in 1976.

Kawasaki Z250 Classics

From its initial design brief in 1975 to its appearance at the 1978 motorcycle show the Z250 was a bike very much designed for the UK market with its unique 250cc learner limit. The contemporary report in 'Bike' Magazine concludes that the bike was a great, although late, entry to the UK 250cc market with better handling and brakes than other bikes in its class.
