In some off-line

discussion with Pat -

we decided the thread

title is fine like it is - but the thread may be misplaced (and sort of hidden away) by being in Hexheads. The thread is not hexhead/camhead specific. The repair endeavor is for all BMW ABS systems.. so I'm moving the thread to Motorrad, but leaving a permanent redirect here in Hex/Cam..

I have purchased a 2004 k1200gt recently with 11,000 miles and after riding it the first 1000 miles, I noticed blue smoke coming out of the exhaust pipe, at start up. It happened a couple more times since then, so I took it to the dealer for the 12K check up and service. I was told that everything was in great shape. I still get the smoke now and then, but now I also noticed oil consumption ...

BMW sold the RS between 1996 and 2004, when it was replaced by the far better K1200 S, which used a conventional transverse engine layout and Duolever front end. We'd always recommend the later bike, but if you come across a well-priced RS, and don't mind a big beastie, it still makes a solid heavyweight tourer with a load of grunt.
