Building The Panama Canal Cultural

Why was the Panama Canal needed? Early European explorers of the Americas identified the narrow band of land between northern and southern America as an ideal place to construct a canal to link the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Various European colonists from the Central America area tabled a plethora of ideas for the construction of such a canal.

The Building of the Panama Canal - American History USA

The Panama Canal was made by building dams on the Chagres River to create Gatun Lake and Lake Madden, digging the Gaillard Cut from the river between the two lakes and over the Continental Divide, building locks between the Atlantic Ocean and Gatun Lake to lift boats to the lake and another set of locks at the end of the Gaillard Cut to lower ships, and digging a channel to the Pacific Ocean.

The Socio-cultural Impacts. The Panama Canal also has social and cultural impacts on the USA and Panama. First, since its commissioning in 1914, the canal has made the USA and Panama, as well as other South American countries inevitably bound. Second, the canal has influenced the politics of the regions it connects, especially Panamanian and US politics. It is worth noting that even before its construction and commissioning, the canal had impacts on the politics of the region. Initially, for ...
