How God Acts: Creation, Redemption, And Special Divine ...

A major focus of the book, as indicated in the title, is how God acts in the natural world and how the biblical narrative of creation and redemption can be understood against the background of a modern scientific cosmology in which the universe has been developing in a long evolutionary process lasting some fourteen billion years.

How God Acts: Creation, Redemption, and Special Divine ...

Edwards makes the case for panentheism, God-in-creation, pointing out that God acts through and within natural events. His take on the resurrection of Jesus is instructive: the resurrection is not an event outside of natural law, but reveals the basis of the natural order itself.

How God Acts: Creation, Redemption, and Special Divine ...

The original creation was wrought through Christ by the power of the word; the new creation, or redemption, is wrought in exactly the same way. The evolutionary theory of creation inevitably involves an evolutionary theory of the gospel, and sets aside the truth concerning sin, the atoning sacrifice of Christ, and the necessity of becoming new creatures through faith in the saving power of Christ.

How God Acts Creation Redemption And Special Divine Action ...

We are sometimes tempted to think of God the Father as Creator, God the Son as Redeemer, and the Spirit as the Sanctifier, but this is an unfortunate way of speaking. Rather, scripture and tradition alike teach that all of the great acts of creation, redemption, and sanctification are acts of the Father through the Son in the Spirit.
