"A marvelous collection . . . unified by its determination to speak on behalf of mothers assailed by government policies, social institutions and a culture of mother blaming. . . . These essays open the way for more direct, compassionate, respectful and constructive responses to the dilemmas facing families and mothers."
-Alison M. Jaggar, author of Feminist Politics and Human Nature

Using hermeneutical
and critical interpretive epistemologies
grounded in Feminist methodology, this research explored the negative influence
mother-blaming beliefs
had on mother/worker interactions.

Specifically, this research found that mothers' experiences of their interactions with frontline workers were fraught with experiences of oppression and disrespect.
