I live on a relatively quiet road (for London) - except for times when van drivers take a short cut using our road. They have no concern for humans and I am sure some would see cats as target practice. For this reason I do not let my cats roam, as a usually quiet road means they have no idea this could change within 20 seconds.

Pro Tip: Depending on the type of insulin your cat is on; you may be able to get an insulin "pen" that may be more stable outside of the fridge and may be easier to administer to your cat on the road. Talk to your vet to see if an insulin pen is an option for your cat — it isn't for all cats, but if it is for yours, it could be a great travel (and even long-term) solution for you.
