(PDF) Grassroots Innovation Movements

Most grassroots innovations are at the idea or proof-of-concept stage, and in a very crude shape. Support, expertise and resources are required to standardize and improve the prototype innovation. Grassroots innovators need access to tools and testing centres, and to manufacturers that can produce the first few pieces for testing.

The shaded areas of - ESCAP

Grassroots innovation can be co-opted as a term for continued local engagements that see communities as relatively passive sites for either appropriating ideas or inserting ready-made solutions, with little reflection on the grassroots as active subjects in innovations and making appropriations of their own.

Grassroots Innovation Movements - Chapter 1

Our new book, Grassroots Innovation Movements, will be published in August 2016. You can download the Open Access Introductory chapter here. Innovation is increasingly invoked by policy elites and business leaders as vital for tackling global challenges like sustainable development. Often overlooked, however, is the fact that networks of community groups, activists, and researchers have been innovating grassroots solutions for social justice and environmental sustainability for decades.
