Realms Of The Human Unconscious

However you may regard Freud, his focus was exclusively within the realm of the
personal unconscious;

for Otto Rank, around the impact of birth
trauma on the development of the personality, and with C.G. Jung, the recognition that the
personal unconscious
depends on 'systems
and structures' of an organic nature that seem to stretch all the way back to the
primordial 'slime time'
and pre-date the formation of a personal unconscious; a Universal sub-stratum, as it were.

The four major levels of the LSD experience, he argues, corresponds to areas of the human unconscious: (1) Abstract and aesthetic experiences (2)

Psychodynamic experiences (3) Perinatal experiences, and (4) Transpersonal experiences. Abstract and aesthetic experiences: These experiences are very sensual and include; entoptic phenomena (visions from within the eye) and after images, with geometric or architectural patterns.

Unconscious

There are four primary realms of consciousness accessible to human beings: subconscious, supraconscious, super consciousness, hell. The subconscious realm is present on the left side; the supraconscious realm on the right side. These represent the past and future respectively.

Realms of the Human Unconscious: Observations from LSD ...

Stanislav Grof's landmark work in, "Realms of the Human Unconscious:

Observations from LSD Research," is a most refreshingly unbiased comprehensive presentation of the individual and collective Human Unconscious potential I have ever studied. One might easily protest that studies based on controlled LSD administration can hardly be unbiased.

Realms of the Human Unconscious: Observations from LSD ...

His research was the impetus behind a vastly expanded cartography of the unconscious, including two new realms still unacknowledged by official academic circles--the perinatal domain, which holds memories of the various stages of birth, and the transpersonal domain, which mediates experiential identification with other species and mythic figures, visits to archetypal realms, access to past life memories, and union with the cosmic creative principle.
