Case / Planting & Seeding Part Diagrams

Talking about 620/6200 press drills in hard ground takes me back about 35 years ago working for a neighbor. Back in the 1980s, the government was paying farmers to "idle" or "set aside" 10-20% of the farm ground by not planting it as a way to get rid of the grain surplus at the time.

The drill that I have now, has a grass seed (brome, orchard, etc.) box mounted like yours and a small seed (alfalfa) box in front of the grain box. It's a model 10 10' with hydraulic lift and 7" spacing. The charts in the seed boxes measure in pounds on this drill.

Older IH, JD, Moline drills from the 50s, 60s, were typically about a bushel per foot of width. Later ones, like the IH 510, JD 8300, run about 3 bushels per foot. Sure is nice to run a few hours without refilling. My 10 foot Moline could make two rounds, half mile field, but not a third. 8300 was a big improvement.
