A belief is an attitude that something is the case, or that some proposition about the world is true. In
epistemology,
philosophers use the term "belief" to refer to attitudes about the world which can be either true or false. To believe something is to take it to be true; for instance, to believe that snow is white is comparable to accepting the truth of the proposition "snow is white".

About Belief and Unbelief in Medieval Europe
For most people in the middle ages--for thousands upon thousands who lived within Christendom in the period considered by this book, 1100-1500--we have no record of what they believed or did not believe.

Belief and Unbelief

This is an early work by Michael Novak and is heavy into the philosophy of religion and the reasons for belief or unbelief. It will not necessarily change anyone's mind, but it does lay out the issues involved.
