INTO THE AIR uses the 20th anniversary of John Durham Peters's Speaking into the Air as a springboard for scholars from a variety of disciplines, institutions, and geographical locations to critically and collaboratively reflect on the last two decades of work across the unruly and "undisciplined" fields of communication and media theory.

INTO THE AIR

The title, "Speaking into the Air" is a fitting title; Peters argues that our attempts at communication ultimately fail, but that this failure shouldn't stop us from loving and respecting each other. Communication is a necessity, but is also doomed to miscommunication. Peters starts his book with two juxtaposed models of communication:
