Das (2012) [8] in an attempt to find out the level of autonomy and decision making power of tribal women and the impact of socio-economic status on decision making roles have drawn a conclusion that the tribal women enjoy autonomy at their household level, especially in social aspects and at some point enjoy equal rights along with their husbands in economic matters. But due to low literacy rate and unemployment the community participation of the women is inactive and autonomy level is very low.
