The fiber optic cable is a bit more expensive than Cat 5e and terminations are a little more too, but the big difference is the electronics which are $200 or more per link extra for fiber. However, the real difference comes if you use a centralized fiber optic network - shown on the right of the diagram above.

Long-haul and submarine cables are mission critical but are difficult to service in inclement weather or remote, dangerous terrain. Distributed strain sensing with a fiber optic sensor will allow a network cable owner to test the fiber at installation, and then monitor a dark fiber for excessive strain risk and changes in strain while in service to mitigate breakage.
